

Bio

John Bonapace is a lifelong resident of the Detroit area, who grew up in an east side suburb and graduated from Wayne State University, majoring in Marketing with a minor in Computer Science.

John and his wife, Cindy, and two children, Chris and Jennifer, reside two miles from where he grew up. His strong ties to the area include his mom, two sisters and an extended family of first and second generation European descendants. John's loyalty to Michigan and the Midwest extends to his customers, who are "fantastic people" working at the great companies based in the Central US.

He worked at Sun Microsystems for 20 years, working with customers and partners, in automotive, health care, finance and insurance industries. He held a number of leadership positions, with global responsibilities in sales, marketing and business development roles.

Currently, he works at Oracle Corporation. His team is responsible for the hardware sales to Oracle's top customers in the Central United States.

John has been active in the community, contributing time to non profit charities and faith based organizations. He currently is active in the Michigan Council of Women in Technology, mcwt.org, where he serves as the Co Chair person on the Advisory Board.